EBS Enterprise Business Systems - AMO

The South African Civil Aviation Authority (SACAA) introduced the EBS system with an objective to automate, optimise and integrate processes and systems with SACAA. The EBS project is underway with a planned completion date end of June 2018 for the current phase. It has to be noted that the project is aligned to the organisational strategic plan, which intends, inter alia, to automate systems and processes in order to improve efficiency, which is designed to improve client experience.

The implementation of Design, Manufacturing and Aircraft Maintenance Organisations Module is currently underway with an implementation end date of 30 September 2017. The process is currently in the User Acceptance Testing phase, whereby the users are testing the system for fit for purpose in line with the approved Business Requirements Specifications. The module is planned to be piloted towards the end of August 2017 until the end of September 2017. As of the 1st October 2017, all the certificates will be processed and printed from the EBS System.

Since it is a new system and there is no data, which migrated into it, all the customer details will be captured manually into the system. It is anticipated that due to staff familiarisation to the system and on-going system refinements, certain processes might take longer than usual however, the processes and system efficiency will improve over the medium term. We appeal for system users and clients patience during these initial stages of implementation and apologise in advance for any inconvenience that this may cause
